Privacy Statement

Brooklight Place Securities, Inc. is firm in its commitment to protect your privacy. Securities firms choose how they share your personal information. Federal and state law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

The Concern About Privacy

Brooklight Place Securities, Inc. has been in business since 1984. We have always understood the sanctity of personal information and have lived up to our clients' trust for over 30 years.

The Types of NonPublic Information We Collect

Information we receive from you on applications or other forms, such as your address and phone number, social security number, assets, and income; financial information; and information we receive from third parties including consumer-reporting agencies, such as inspection reporting services.

How We May Use the Information You Provide

All financial institutions need to share customers' personal information to run their everyday business. Below are ways and reasons Brooklight Place Securities, Inc. shares the information it has collected:

- For everyday business purposes so as to process your securities applications;
- Provide ongoing service for your accounts;
- Working with companies that perform services on our behalf, which is permitted by law (such as printing, mailing services, data processing or analysis, or customer surveys);
- Regulatory authorities and reporting agencies, or law enforcement agencies.

Where We Obtain Information

We get much of the information we need from customer applications and other forms. If a customer authorizes it, we may get information from other institutions, such as credit reporting agencies. We also may get information as we process customer transactions.

Keeping Your Information Protected

We do not disclose nonpublic personal information about you, except as otherwise required by law. We do not sell or rent information to third parties. We limit access to your information by employees and other representatives to those who have a business reason for knowing it. We maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards to protect this information.

Protecting Your Privacy

We realize that our ability to serve you depends on the personal financial information we collect from you and how we use that information. We value your business and are committed to earning and maintaining your trust.
